In 1788 pioneers of the Ohio Company made Marietta the first permanent settlement in the Northwest Territory. Join Great Day! Tours as we discover this picturesque riverboat town. In keeping with this theme, we'll be dining in a riverfront hotel whose dining room is adorned in 19th century riverboat decor.

We'll be visiting a candy company and making a short stop at Fenton Art Glass in Williamstown, just across the Ohio River. And, speaking of rivers, there is nothing like the gentle splash of the paddlewheel to remind you of a bygone era . . . and you'll be enjoying an afternoon sightseeing cruise aboard a modern-day sternwheeler capable of carrying almost 300 passengers.
