

OUR ALL-NEW WISCONSIN TOUR WITH DOOR COUNTY

Friday - Friday September 7 - 14, 2012

Willoughby, Beachwood, Independence, Middleburg, No. Olmsted, Elyria, Sandusky, As Applicable

Based on a number of requests, we are pleased to add this new eight-day tour package for your consideration . . . with enough time to include a lot of new attractions along with some favorites that others have already discovered. While details and pricing are being finalized at the time of publication, we plan on including "Hello Dolly", America's favorite matchmaker with laughter and music wherever she goes, at a Wisconsin dinner theater. Along the way we'll be stopping in Chicago where, not long after the turn of the last century, in a decade known as the Roaring Twenties, the manufacture and sale of alcoholic beverages was outlawed and strictly prohibited . . . but that really didn't stop "speakeasies" across the city of Chicago from offering an evening of "entertainment". Here, we'll be having a delicious sit-down dinner at "da joint" where the "gangsters" and "flappers" will entertain you with singing, dancing and comedy. It's as if you are being transported back to the 1920's.

We are also planning on staying two nights in both Wisconsin Dells and Green Bay, before traveling north to Sturgeon Bay in Door County. Door County's signature ambiance is results from a combination of stunning sights and a well-known arts scene. We'll be taking a boat cruise, visiting the Door County Maritime Museum and, possibly, learning of the "Ghosts of Haunted Lighthouses of the Great Lakes". A regional dinner awaits us this day. Depending on the schedules, we also anticipate visiting Packard Stadium, the Kohler Company and the Case-New Holland Assembly Plant and another dinner show. As always, you can count on a number of great meals. Pricing and a detailed itinerary should be available in late January or early February.
